1. It is becoming increasingly evident that American dependence on foreign oil, especially oil from countries that support and/or export radical Islamic ideology and terrorism, has been a major barrier to the development of a domestic energy industry. While there has been considerable progress in the development of alternative energy sources, such as wind, solar, and hydro, these sources are not yet able to provide any significant portion of the energy needs of the United States. The transportation sector, in particular, is almost entirely dependent on oil. It is your responsibility to oppose each of the following provisions and to work to get them away from foreign oil dependence.
